Eighty Dollars Reward.

RAN-AWAY from the Subscriber, at Newtown, Chester Ferry, Queen Anne's county, state of Maryland, the following negroes, viz. a woman named Nanny, went away on the 23d January, 1799, and took with her a Mustato female child, about two years old, named Arianna. Nanny is a dark yellow negro, about five feet four or five inches high, remarkably handsome for a negro. Her cloathing unknown as she took a variety of good cloaths with her—she went off with a negro fellow, named Peter, and calls himself Peter Simpson, he is the property of a certain William Bowers of Talbot county, state as above, who has advertised one hundred dollars reward for him. Peter is a stout well made yellow fellow, about 6 feet one inch high, is a tolerable good Carpenter. Nanny passes for his wife, but her real husband is named Bob, who belongs to her master. It is probable they are in the neighbourhood of Salem in the Jersies, as they were there in October last, and by information, Peter had built himself an house to live in, between Rum Bridge and Gold Town; it is likely they may have changed their names and may have passes, as Peter can write a middling hand; it is probable Nanny has another child, as it was thought she was in a pregnant state when she went away.

The noted Ferry-man Charles, who calls himself Charles Rodney; he went off on the 18th of February last, he is a dark mulatto, about five feet eight or nine inches high, about forty years old, stoops in his shoulders when he walks, a scar on his head very perceivable—he took with him a small bay mare about 4 or 5 years years old, her mane trimmed and bob tail'd; his cloathing unknown, as he carried off a variety of cloaths; it is probable he has changed his name, as he is a very artful, sensible fellow, he can read tolerably well; it is likely he may hire himself to drive a waggon, being well acquainted with that business, driving for the army during the war; he also perhaps may have a pass.

The above reward will be given for the aforesaid two negroes, viz. Nanny and Charles, if taken out of the state, or twenty dollars for Nanny and child, if taken in this state, & 2 do. Charles if taken in this state and secured in jail, so as I may get them again. If brought home all reasonable charges shall be paid by me.

JOHN QUIMBY.

March 3. w&sa4w.

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RAN-AWAY from Spring Forge, in York County, a negro man, named ISAAC, otherwise CUDJO, about 21 years old, the property of Robert Coleman; Esq. He is about 5 feet 8 inches high, has a blemish in his eyes, more white in them than common, by trade a Ferge man; had on and took with him a drab coloured broad cloth coat, almost new, a sailors jacket and pantaloons printed fancy cord, a swansdown striped underjacket; a rorum hat; one fine and one coarse shirt; one muslin handkerchief, sprigged, two ditto striped border, a blue Persian under jacket and two pair cotton stockings. Whoever takes up said negro and lodges him in any jail in this or any of the neigbouring states shall have the above reward or reasonable expences if brought home.

JOHN BRIEN.

Spring Forge, October 23, 1799.

N. B. As said negro formerly lived in Chester county, it is probable he may return there.

3d. A Claſſical School, in which will be taught the Latin and Greek Languages, in conjunction with Chronology, Civil Hiſtory, Rhetoric, and the Inſtitutes of Moral Science.

A well grounded conviction of the expediency of the foregoing plan, has been our principal inducement to undertake it. When it is conſidered that this populous and flouriſhing Metropolis contains only one Public Inſtitution on an extenſive plan, and that many of our youth are obliged to reſort to other States, to receive even a Grammar-School Education, the Seminary now propoſed, will, we truſt, be regarded as eminently uſeful.

Actuated by theſe conſiderations, many gentlemen, friends to Science, and to Literary Eſtabliſhments, have urged, with great warmth, the preſent undertaking, and excited the moſt flattering expectations of its ſucceſs.

Thus encouraged by the countenance and promiſed aid of liberal men, no leſs than by a firm perſuaſion that well-regulated Academies have a moſt important influence upon manners, habits, and principles; it will be our earneſt endeavor ſo to conduct this Seminary of Learning, as to ſubſerve the great Intereſts of Religion and Morality, to promote Decorum of Behaviour, Correctneſs of Taſte, Liberality of Sentiment, and every other attribute of an ingenuous mind, which, in connection with good principles, and ſound literature, conſtitute the diſtinguiſhed ornaments of the gentleman, and the ſcholar.

The building, engaged for this Academy, though affording excellent accommodation, will be relinquiſhed for a more central ſituation, if ſuch a change ſhould be found neceſſary.

A maſter of diſtinguiſhed abilities will be procured to conduct the Mathematical Department.

Perſons deſirous to be employed as TUTORS in this Seminary, are requeſted to apply, without delay, to either of the ſubſcribers, to whom alſo Parents wiſhing to ſend their children, will pleaſe to make application.

MAP OF NEW-JERSEY.

THE commiſſioners appointed for the purpoſe of circulating ſubſcription papers, to the propoſed plan of procuring an accurate Map of New-Jerſey, immediately after their appointment tranſmitted printed copies of the plan to various perſons in the ſeveral counties of this ſtate, and in the cities of New-York and Philadelphia, and ſince that time, through the medium of the public prints, have requeſted the gentlemen entruſted with thoſe papers, to return the number of ſubſcribers by them reſpectively procured, to James Salter, Eſq. at Trenton, on or before the 6th day of February laſt. The number of ſurſcriptions received, not amounting to two thouſand, the commiſſioners did not conceive themſelves authorized to fix a day for the meeting of the company; nevertheleſs being of opinion from reſpectable information, that the actual ſubſcriptions are nearly, if not fully, adequate to the complete organization of the company, if they could be aſcertained by regular returns, and being convinced that a trifling degree of exertion, on the part of the perſons holding the ſubſcription liſts, would enable them to carry the intention of the ſubſcribers into effect, they have by the unanimous advice and conſent of the ſubſcribers, whom they have been able to conſult, fixed on the 14th day of May next; being the 2d day of the ſitting of the ſupreme court, for a meeting of the ſubſcribers at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at the State Houſe in Trenton, for the purpoſe of electing five Truſtees and a Treaſurer, if the number of ſubſcriptions ſhould be ſufficient, or in any event to determine on the meaſures neceſſary to ſecure the attainment of an object ſo uſeful to the ſtate.

From the univerſal approbation exhibited by their fellow-citizens, at the commencement of this undertaking, it was to be expected that the ſubſcriptions returned would have enſured its immediate execution, and the commiſſioners are purſuaded if proper attention is paid to the procuring of ſubſcriptions, to their punctual return at the time fixed for the meeting, and to the attendance of the ſubſcribers, either in perſon or by proxy, that no farther delay will take place in commencing the operations of the company, in time for their execution during the courſe of the enſuing ſummer.

MR. FENNO,

IT was an error fatal to themſelves, and ruinous to the peace of ſociety, when the French, in their revolution, determined to imitate the republic of Rome, rather than the Britiſh conſtitution. The former ſeems every way unſuitable to the French, while the latter would be beneficial. I do not mean that they ſhould have adopted the defects of the Britiſh conſtitution, but thoſe parts only (according to the ſenſible ideas of the late King of Poland) which experience had proved to be uſeful, and which were ſuitable to each country. If they had followed Monteſquieu, rather than Tom Paine, how glorious, inſtead of diſreputable, would have been the reſult! The Author of the Spirit of Laws was a man of great capacity, "of an Herculean robuſtneſs of mind" according to the emphatical expreſſion of Mr. Burke. After twenty years ſtudy of the ſcience of politics, he gave the preference to the Engliſh government before all others. He juſtly calls it "a beautiful ſyſtem." How did this country improve its condition and its fame, when under the auſpices of General Waſhington and other leading men, the people formed a conſtitution ſimilar to that of England inſtead of their former rickety and ruinous ſyſtem. If the federal conſtitution had not been adopted, the Sabbath might have been aboliſhed in the United States, and the guillotine erected in all its horrors.

It is diſgraceful to mankind that ſuch a man as Tom Paine, an ignoramus, a drunkard, and a blaſphemer, ſhould have had ſo much influence among them. It will prove, to uſe a ſtrong line from Doctor Young, "Guilt's blunder, and the loudeſt laugh of hell." Impartial poſterity, when they calmly conſider Paine's works, will wonder at the infatuation of their forefathers. Yet this crazy ſeditious fellow, who was bred to the juſtly deſpicable trade of a ſtaymaker, though ridiculouſly ignorant and abſurd, had for a time a conſiderable influence upon the opinions of the people in France. When this itinerant traitor firſt wrote there, he had but little ſucceſs.—In the firſt National Aſſembly of France (the conſtituent Aſſembly as it is frequently called) out of near a thouſand members, only eight were of the ſame antimonarchical principles with Mr. Paine.

But the great cauſe of the partiality of the French for a republic, is their fondneſs for Roman authors. The old Engliſh writer Hobbes, in his hiſtory of the cauſes of the civil Wars in England, ſays that the civil war in the time of Charles the firſt, was greatly produced by the fondneſs for Greek and Roman authors, who called Monarchy, Deſpotiſm, and a Republic, Liberty.

It is to be obſerved of the republic of Rome, that it was a viſionary and impracticable ſcheme for a large and vicious nation. It only continued from the death of Tarquinius Superbus, to the battle of Pharſalia, 461 years.—There were ſeven Kings before the republic, and numerous Emperors afterwards. The diviſion of the Weſtern Empire did not take place until the year of our Lord 475 or 476.—From the commonly acknowledged Era for the building of Rome in the year 753 before Chriſt, or even if we make that Era later according to Sir Iſaac Newton's Chronology, Rome has not been a republic near a fourth part of the time ſince its being originally built. If the Romans were too vicious for a republic in the time of Cæſar, the French are too vicious for a republic now. No ſtateſman of ſound judgment, who knew human nature and was acquainted with hiſtory, could have ever thought of a republic for France. We know from experience that ſuch a republic as that of Rome, leads to anarchy or deſpotiſm. Whereas the Britiſh conſtitution may forever be the guardian of order and liberty. Some able and learned political writers ſay, that the conſtitution of England is little more than a well regulated republic.

It is this accurſed deſire of imitating the republic of Rome which made the French adopt the pernicious maxim, Delenda eſt Carthago, that England, which they reſemble to Carthage, muſt be deſtroyed. This idea, however, may prove as vain as it is wicked. England may probably laugh at the threats of France, as the Prophet told Jeruſalem to laugh at the threats of Sennacherib, when he went to beſiege it. "The virgin, the daughter of Zion, laugheth thee to ſcorn—ſhe ſhaketh her head at thee." The iſlands of St. Marcou conſiſts of about eight acres of barren land upon the coaſt of France, between Havre and Cape de la Hogue, which were lately ſeized by the gallant Sir Sidney Smith, fortified and regularly ſupplied with a garriſon. The French in vain attempted, with the greateſt exertions they could make, to retake this little ſpot. How is it then probable that they can ſubdue the mighty and courageous kingdom of Great Britain? The people of Great Britain, from the exceſſes of the French, and from knowing that under the pretences of liberty, they really mean to enſlave mankind, are becoming more and more united. The naval ſtrength of the country ſeems unaſſailable by confederated Europe; they have a Miniſter of the firſt talents who has engaged the applauſe of king, parliament and people; their manufactories, trade, and finances are in the moſt flouriſhing condition. The national debt is likely ſoon to be annihilated by the conſtant and unvaried accumulation of the ſinking fund at compound intereſt, according to the plan of Mr. Pitt; which ſeems well aſcertained in the able pamphlet which has very lately been publiſhed on the ſubject by Mr. Secretary Roſe. If therefore France againſt reaſon, juſtice, and humanity, continues for ever a deleterious war with Great Britain, while the wealth of Britain increaſes and the population does not diminiſh, France may be drained of men and money. Some who pretend to make correct calculations, ſay that the French had loſt two millions and a half of ſoldiers before the laſt campaign with Suwarrow. And the uſurper Buonaparte reproached the Secretary of Barras that he could not find a man out of one hundred thouſand veterans that he had left in Italy. O war, what a ſcourge thou art to the world!

It is not poſſible that the French can eſtabliſh ſuch an empire as the Roman. According to the prophecy of Daniel, the cruel and deteſtable empire of Rome was to "devour the whole earth, tread it down, and break it in pieces." But thoſe who underſtand the prophecies, know that France cannot eſtabliſh the univerſal dominion to which ſhe aſpires, becauſe the exiſtence of other ſtates of great power and magnitude is foretold. The re-eſtabliſhment of the white cockade in France, the emblem of lawful authority, would ſtill the waves of anarchy, as the latin poet ſuppoſed the white or propitious ſtar, relieved, upon its being diſcovered, the mariners from the dangers of the ocean.

Simul alba Nautis Stella refulſit,
Concidunt venti, fugiuntque Nubes,
Et minax, quod ſic voluere, Ponto
Unda recumbit.

The reſtoration of the king, with limited powers in France might be highly beneficial to the United States of America as well as to other countries. It would not only probably prevent the plunder of their commerce, but ſecure peace, and put a ſtop to that intriguing ſpirit of democracy, which is aiming to ſubvert the federal government, and involve the country in confuſion and miſery.

LIBERTY AND ORDER.

LITERARY INTELLIGENCE.

The writer of this article, will reſume his remarks on Hawkins's Magazine, when the ſecond number of that uſeful Miſcellany ſhall have been received.—A Sermon of John Thornton Kirkland, a Boſton Clergyman, and among the Eulogiſts of Waſhington is, in chaſtity and purity of diction, a rival to moſt of the Oraiſons Funebres we have read on the melancholy occaſion of the demiſe of a warrior. As it is propoſed to examine in detail ſome of the beſt productions of this claſs, which have been publiſhed, we defer a review of Mr. K's ingenious diſcourſe to "a more convenient ſeaſon." It is underſtood that the Author of the Lay Preacher propoſes to publiſh a liberal tranſlation of the works of SALLUST, the Roman Hiſtorian. The verſions, hitherto publiſhed, of this claſſic have been ſervile and bald, like that of CLARKE, or ſtiff and pedantic, like thoſe of ROSE and GORDON. It is ſuppoſed that a tranſlation, after the model of Murphy's Tacitus, at once faithful, terſe and elegant, will be greeted by claſſical ſtudents, and perhaps, eſcape the frowns even of the profound ſcholar. As this is a work of no hopeful proſpect here, Americans being engroſſed by others cares, than ſtudying the beautiful reliques of ancient wiſdom, the tranſlator will have it printed by STRAHAN, CADELL, and DAVIES, bookſellers, London.—In different parts of the United States, editions of Kotzebue's plays are ſold, and are popular. We are aſtoniſhed that editions of Rocheſter's poems, and Fanny Hill are not as current as Kotzebue's comedies. There is as much good morality in the one, as in the other.—James Kirk, M. D. publiſhes at New York a variety of pamphlets, containing Medical Cautions to young gentlemen, &c. His quackiſh trumpery, and the learned lucubrations of Bilious Lee, attach moſt American patronage, and conſtitute much of American Literature.

W. Cobbett at New York, has publiſhed the hiſtory of the campaigns of Prince Suworow, preceded by a ſketch of his life and character, and followed by a conciſe and comprehenſive hiſtory of his Italian campaign; the latter by W. Cobbett. This book purports to be a tranſlation from the German of Frederick Anthing. It is a plain unvarniſhed hiſtory. The biography of the Ruſſian hero is amuſing and inſtructive, and military men, who "ſeek the bubble reputation even in the cannon's mouth" will peruſe with enthuſiaſm the narrative of ſieges and battles. To the admirer of fine prints, to the elegans Formarum Spectator, this edition will be peculiarly acceptable. It contains a moſt expreſſive and finiſhed engraving of the bold and martial features of the Chieftain of the North. It is doubted, and with ſufficient reaſons whether a plate more elegant has ever been attached to any American publication.

The original portion of this book exhibits the beſt ſtyle of Porcupine. It is nervous and neat. It preſents the mental features of that well known writer. We ſee his boldneſs in every line. He "ſpeaks right on;" and, careleſs of giving offence, ſays ſtrong things with the moſt unbounded freedom. Of invective he is profuſe, and he has the fiery zeal of Saul of Tarſus, he breathes out threatenings and ſlaughters againſt his adverſaries. His language is not Italian, it is not ſilky and ſoft, and bland and complying. It is diſtinct and loud, and peremptory. He makes no bows, "ſeldom he ſmiles, and ſmiles in ſuch a ſort, as though he mocked his ſpirit" and, like one intent on momentous buſineſs, neglects ceremony, or deſpiſes it. Senſible, ſagacious, ſhrewd and daring, he penetrates into the myſteries of Jacobiniſm and inculpates the luke-warmneſs of the timid. He is a perfect Terrier at all the burrows of Democracy. He watches with eager eye, and he barks perseveringly long.

He is charged with being scurrilous, and prejudiced, and intemperate, and low. To such an accusation it is not difficult to make defence. Every man, attacked in newspapers and transitory pamphlets, in factious times, and by a partizan, always attaches these epithets to his adversary. The language of Porcupine is acrimonious, and his chiding vehement; but it must be remembered that he is out, as it were, in a moral tempest, that he is exposed to the pityless pelting of democracy, that his person is menaced by some, his property invaded by others, and his principles attacked by more. The "day is hot, and Frenchmen are abroad," it is natural therefore, as an Englishman, that he should feel, like passionate Mercutio. All smarting to be so pestered with every political popinjay, it is natural that he should be irritable, like the fiery Hotspur. He lives in a time, when Jacobin jugglers display their magic to the dazzled eyes of the stupid and credulous vulgar; when classical learning, useful literature, christianity, and old and honest principles are neglected and degraded, when childish change is the vogue, when creeping, farthing, mean and scoundrel maxims are taught by our "Poor Richards" as "The way to wealth," and cunning and pedlar's craft hailed as true prudence, and sound discretion. At such a time, it is HONEST and decorous to lift the trumpet voice, and raise the menacing hand. The author of the "Pursuits of Literature" has done this, and Peter has done no more. Since our connexion with France, it has become fashionable to invest our minds with a new and finely covering, but in the country of our ancestors men are still in those habits, which the Bible, the Liturgy and Aurelius and Addison furnish. From that country this man comes, and he brings its principles with him. They are stable. When the age of revolution, inconsistency, fat headed, harpy clawed Speculation, and debasing avarice has passed away; old fashioned plainness of speech, and liberal conduct and high minded dignity, and sound and protected literature will be restored; and men will wonder that Paine's pamphlets were ever read, and that the pitiful proverbs of Franklin were ever popular.

A gentleman who left New-Castle at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, says there were then no inward bound vessels there, or any in sight; but it was said there was a 20 gun ship in the bay.

BALTIMORE, March 26.

A passenger in the schooner Mary, captain Heart, has furnished us with the following article for publication.

On Tuesday, March 4, 1800, lat. 35° 43' N. long. 71, 55, W. at half past 1 P. M. saw a wreck bearing to the north and heading us, we could not fetch her without making a few tacks; we immediately dispatched the yawl, with the mate and two hands, to go on board in hopes to find some person alive, but to our great surprise they found no living soul on board. All the description we can give of the said wreck is, that she was a schooner, with a woman figure head painted white, with a cornucopia in one hand, the other arm was carried away; her bowsprit was painted yellow, and likewise her quarter deck; she had a sky light; pierced for 12 or 14 guns, but had none on board; her bulwarks were all washed away by the sea; the two masts and the chief part of the spars were lying along side; her main and flying gib was entangled round the bowsprit by the wash of the sea; her stern was painted black, but no name could be perceived; her sides were pine. We took her to be a southern built vessel. The weather being squally and night coming on we were obliged to abandon her. There were women's clothes on the quarter deck.

CHARLESTON, March 11.

The Canal which has been cutting for a number of years past in this state, under the direction of Col. Snef, is now so far completed, as to admit boats to pass entirely through it, from the head of Cooper river to the Santee. A committee of the board of directors left town yesterday, to inspect the works, and to fix the time when it will be opened for boats to past through, which are to pay toll. There is great reason to believe that as soon as it is declared to be passable the chief part of the produce of the Santee, Congaree, Waterre, and other rivers connected with these, will pass through this canal, which will entirely take off the risk and damage boats are subject to, which now come round by the mouth of the Santee.

The many losses which have happened within the last and present years, to boats in the latter dangerous passage, will point out most feelingly to those who sent their produce down the Santee, the propriety of ordering it through this canal; the planning and execution of which does so much credit to the state, and those who have persevered to its completion.

STAUNTON, (Vir.) March 19.

Funeral honours were solemnized, by the troops of the garrisons of South West Point and Tellico, on the 22d February last. The following singular circumstance took place on the evening of the same day: Two children were born in those garrisons, the one, a son to the lady of Capt. Butler—the other a daughter to the lady of Lockwood.—The son of Capt. Butler bears the name of George Washington—the daughter of Capt. Lockwood the name of Martha Washington.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, March 28.

Mr. Nicholas called up the resolution which he laid on the table yesterday, authorising the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, to close the present session by adjourning their respective Houses on the last day in April next, and having modified his motion, so as to read the first Monday in May next, the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Nicholas said, an act was passed last session, for the more general promulgation of the laws of the United States, which gave the Secretary of State a discretionary power as to the manner in which the law should be executed—this power he did not mean to question, but he thought the house should be made acquainted with the expence attending it; and therefore moved the following resolution, which was adopted, viz.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be requested to lay before the House, a report of the proceedings had under an act passed last session, entitled, "An act for the more general promulgation of the laws of the U. United States," and the expences incurred therein.

Mr. S. Smith moved that when the House adjourn, it adjourn till Monday—carried, ayes 56.

Mr. Eggleston presented a petition of the merchants and others, inhabitants of the towns of Richmond, Manchester, and Petersburg, Virginia, praying the office of collector of the customs may be established at Petersburg, in the district of City Point, and Bermuda Hundred. Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

On motion of Mr. Livingston, the House came to the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee of commerce and manufactures, be directed to enquire into the expediency of allowing a drawback on the exportation of cotton goods, of foreign manufacture imported into the United States, and that they report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Harper said, as the principal feature of the bill for the better establishment and regulation of the courts of the United States, had been destroyed, by a vote of the House, yesterday, he would now move that the committee of the whole be discharged from the further consideration of it.

Messrs. Gallatin and Nicholas opposed this motion; and Mr. Otis supported it; when the question was taken and agreed to—ayes 57.

Mr. Harper then moved that the bill be re-committed to the select committee, who reported it.

This motion was superceded by one of Mr. Macon, who moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed till the first Monday in December next.

Mess. Nicholson, Varnum, Macon, spoke in favor of the postponement; and Messrs. Rutledge, C. Goodrich, Bayard, against it; when the question was taken by yeas and nays, as follow:

AFFIRMATIVE.

Messrs. Alston, Bishop, R. Brown, Cabelle, Christie, Clay, Claiborne, Condit, Davis, Dawson, Dent, Eggleston, Elmendorf, Fowler, Gallatin, Goode, Gray, Gregg, Hanna, Hartley, Heister, Holmes, Jackson, Jones, Kitchell, Leib, Lyon, Livingston, Macon, Muhlenberg, New, Nicholas, Nicholson, Randolph, Smilie, J. Smith, S. Smith, Stanford, Stone, Sumpter, Taliaferro, Thompson, A. Trigg, J. Trigg, Varnum, R. Williams.—46.

NEGATIVE.

Messrs. Baer, Bartlett, Bayard, Bird, Brace, J. Brown, Champlin, Cooper, Dana, J. Davenport, F. Davenport, Dennis, Dickson, Edmond, Evans, A. Foster, Freeman, Glen, C. Goodrich, E. Goodrich, Gordon, Griswold, Grove, Harper, Henderson, Hill, Huger, Imlay, Kittera, H. Lee, S. Lee, Lyman, Marshall, Morris, Nott, Otis, Parker, Pinckney, Platt, Powell, Reed, Rutledge, Sewall, Sheafe Shepherd, Thatcher, R. Thomas, Wadsworth, Waln, L. Williams, Woods—52.

The question then recurred on Mr. Harper's motion, for re-committing the bill, which was carried—ayes 53.

Mr. D. Foster, from the committee of claims, to whom was referred a resolution instituting an enquiry into the expediency of repealing, for a certain period, the limitation act, made report, that no alteration ought to be made in the existing law relative to loan-office, and final settlement certificates, and indents of interest.

This report was committed for Monday next.

On motion of General Lee, the house unanimously came to the following resolution, viz.

Resolved, That all letters and packets to Mrs Martha Washington, relict of the late General George Washington, shall be received and conveyed by post, free from postage, during her life.

General Lee said, he had been credibly informed, Mrs. Washington had paid upwards of five hundred dollars, for postage.

A committee was appointed to bring in a bill pursuant to the resolution.

The bill to fix the compensation of the commanding officer of the Marine corps, was agreed to, ayes, 46, noes 20, and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on Monday next.

The house went into a committee of the whole on the bill to divide the territory N. W. of the river Ohio, into two separate governments, Mr. Morris in the chair—when

Mr. Macon said, as he wished to try the principle of the bill, before the committee proceeded to fill up the blanks in it, he would move to strike out the first section.

Mr. Harrison, delegate from that territory, opposed this motion, and was followed by Mr. Harper, who contended it was impossible, in such a vast extent of country, for the executive or legislative authority to administer the government in that prompt and effacious manner, which the nature of its situation demanded—and that as the request of the inhabitants for a division seemed to be almost unanimous, it could with no sort of propriety be refused.

The question on striking out, was negatived—the blank was then filled up with the word "Washington," the name which the new territory is to bear—the committee rose, and the bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on Monday next.

General Lee, brought in a bill to extend the privilege of franking letters, and packets, to Martha Washington, which was read a first and second time, and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on Monday next. Adjourned.

Form of the Warrant issued by the Senate for the apprehension of William Duane.

the 27th day of March, 1800.

WHEREAS the Senate of the United States, on the 18th day of March, 1800, then being in session in the city of Philadelphia, did resolve, that a publication in the General Advertiser, or Aurora, a Newspaper printed in the said city of Philadelphia, on Wednesday the 19th of February, the last past, contained assertions and pretended information respecting the Senate and committee of the Senate and their proceedings, which were false, defamatory, scandalous and malicious, tending to defame the Senate of the United States, and to bring them into contempt, and disrepute, and to excite against them the hatred of the good people of the United States; and that the said publication was a high breach of the privileges of the house.

And whereas the Senate did then further resolve and order that the said William Duane, resident in said city, and editor of said newspaper, should appear at the bar of the house on Monday the 24th day of March inst. that he might there have opportunity to make any proper defence for his conduct in publishing the aforesaid false, defamatory, scandalous and malicious assertions and pretended information.

And whereas the said William Duane did appear, on said day, at the bar of the house, pursuant to the said order, and requested counsel, and the Senate by their resolution of the 24th day of March inst. Resolved, that William Duane, having appeared at the bar of the Senate, and requested to be heard by counsel on the charge against him for a breach of privileges of the Senate, he be allowed the assistance of counsel while personally attending at the bar of the Senate, who might be heard in denial of any facts charged against said Duane, or in excuse and extenuation of his offence, and that the said William Duane should attend at the bar of the Senate on Wednesday then next, at 12 o'clock, of which the said Duane had due notice.

And whereas the said William Duane, in contempt of the said last mentioned order, did neglect and refuse to appear at the bar of the said Senate at the time specified therein, and the Senate of the United States on the 27th day of March inst. did therefore resolve that the said William Duane, was guilty of a contempt of said order and of the Senate, and that for the said contempt the said William Duane should be taken into custody of the Sergeant at Arms, attending the Senate, to be kept for their further orders——all which appears by the Journals of the Senate of the United States now in session in the city of Philadelphia.

These are therefore to require you, James Mathers, Sergeant at Arms for the Senate of the United States, forthwith to take into your custody the body of the said William Duane, now resident in the said city of Philadelphia, and him safely to keep, subject to the further order of the Senate;—and that all marshals, and deputy marshals, and civil officers of the United States, and every other person, are hereby required to be aiding and assisting to you in the execution thereof;—for which this shall be your sufficient warrant.

Given under my hand, this 27th day of March, 1800

ABRAHAM BRADLEY, Assistant Postmaster General, in place of CHARLES BURRALL, Esq. resigned.

The Letters of Messrs. Cooper and Dallas, published in yesterday's Gazette, were not, as therein stated, read in Senate; being deemed too indecent, it was voted that they should not be read.

On Wednesday evening last, I called on Mr. Fenno, to speak to him, respecting a publication, which appeared in his Gazette on the preceding day, and which was handed to him by Mary Burgess—He informed me that he was unacquainted with the person who delivered it—that it was offered as an advertisement, and that he was induced to give it a place in his paper from observing in it the names of Mr. B. and Lt. R.

The ship America, Crowninshield, has arrived in the at harbour, and the Amazon, Trevitt, has arrived at the eastward.

Extract of a letter from Captain Bebee of the brig Fox, of New York, dated Mississippi River. February 26, 1800.

On our passage from New York, February 9, saw a schooner with both her masts by the side, and a signal of distress flying. On coming up with her, she proved to be the Sphinx, of Boston, Charles Hodder master, bound to Havannah.—Sailed up and wished to be taken on board the vessel, being so leeky could not keep her free. It then blowing very fresh and a heavy sea running, could only with difficulty and great hazard save the crew, six in number, which two days after put on board another schooner bound to Havannah. From the weather, could not save any thing whatever from the wreck.

The storm which commenced on Friday night last, and continued without intermission, until yesterday, accompanied with a considerable fall of snow and hail, has, we are apprehensive, proved fatal to many valuable vessels which left the Vineyard on Thursday last.—The fleet which came out together on that day, amounted to 40 sail—those which have arrived inform, that the gale was very heavy, and the weather thick. We have had information of several of the fleet arriving in the eastern ports.

☞ AT a meeting of Delegates from twenty-two Fire Companies of the City, and Liberties held at the Carpenter's Hall on the 17th inst. it was resolved, that notice be given in the several newspapers, of the organization of this institution, and that those Fire Companies, who have not communicated the result of their deliberations on the plan submitted to them, be requested to furnish the requisite information at the adjourned meeting to be held at this place at 7 o'clock in the evening of Monday the 31st instant.

Extract from the minutes,

WATER-OFFICE.

Centre Square, Febcuary 5, 1800.

IN compliance with the instructions of the Committee for watering the city, and with my own inclinations, every possible admittance and information has been given to those citizens who have visited the Works during their progress. The Engines are now arrived, and are immediately to be put up, and it is hoped that it will be thought reasonable and just, both to the Public, and to the Contractor for the Engines, that the workmen should not be interrupted. As a very few months will fully gratify the curiosity of the citizens, by shewing them the Engines in full operation, a temporary exclusion of all visitors from the Engine houses cannot appear improper.
